INDEX

To the REMARKABLE PASSAGES in this Volume.

N. B. To find any particular Book, or Pamphlet, see the Table of Contents, prefixed to the Volume.

A

ABSORPTION of gases by water, epxeriments on, 358.

Acid, remarkable, emitted by insects of the Brachyni genus, 475.

Acids, different classes of, characterized, 46.

Addison and Steele, remarks on their periodical essays, 183.

Agriculture, remarks on its nature and importance, 10. Sir Walter Ralegh's arguments on legislative interference respecting, 381.

Affinity, chemical, obs. on, 52

Alexander, Dr. on the effects of opium on the living system, 353.

Ameillon, M. on the fishery of the antients, 522.

America, difficulties of the new settlers in, 417.

Amusements, for the idle, generally censured, 254. See Boxing.

Animals and vegetables, theory of extended analogy between, 472.

Ants, their occupation of certain vegetables, and their defence of their habitations, 493, 4.

Apocalypse, the extravagance and presumption of commentators on that book, 72.

Arc of the meridian, instrument for measuring, 462–465. Never measured by the antients, 464.

Argonauts, expedition of, French translation of Valerius Flaccus's account of, 516.

Ark, Noëtic, emblems of in the mythological writers, 67.

Army, and Volunteers, tracts relative to alterations in the system respecting, 103—105, 324—326.

Articulation, distinct, recommended to be taught very early, 278.

Arts, remarks on the history of, during the 18th century, 532, & seq.

Astronomy of observation, and theoretical Astronomy, distinguished, 468.

Atheism, that doctrine not supported by Hume's theory of causation, 45.

Atmosphere. See Dalton.

Attraction, remarks on, 52. Chemical, influenced by the quantity of the attracting body, that theory proposed, 262. Objections to it, 263.

Aurora Borealis, account of, 135.

B

Barailon, M. on the ruins of an antient city, 516.
Bardsley, Dr. on popular sports, 364.
Barometer, observations made with, remarkable coincidence of, 135.
Basalt. See Richardson.
Beauty, remarks on the different objects of, 146.
Bentley, Dr. gravely vindicated from Swift's humorous attack, 226.
Bernouilli, John and James, remarks on their solutions of Isoperimetrical problems, 506.
Beys, of Egypt, account of, 282.
Billets-doux, poetical specimens of, 335.
Black, Dr. parallel between and Dr. Hutton, 140.
Black Sea, remarks on the trade of, 342. 439.
Bonar, Mr. on the Greek prepositions, 130.
Bones. See Madder.
Boxing, the practice of, vindicated, 153. 365.
Brachyni, two species of, possessed of a very singular property, 495.
Brahmun, of Orissa, description of, 310.
Breille, Marquis de, his anecdote of the Great Duke of Marlborough, 486.
Brock, near Amsterdam, that singular village described, 192.
Bronze, of the antients, memoirs on, 520, 521.
Bull-baiting, some apology for, 153. Shocking cruelty of, 364, 5.
Bute, Lord, anecdotes of the peace formed during his administration, 487.
Byrom, the short-hand author, particularly gifted with versifying powers, 182.

C

Caen, in Normandy, its society practised, 198.
Calais, disembarkation at, of an English Envoy and his suite, 485.
Cambuscan, an heroic poem, story of, and extracts from, 257.
Camus, A. G. his account of Du Theil's researches respecting Herculaneum and Pompeii, 511. His report on the history of the stereotype, 517. On the public exhibition of manufactures, 519. On printing geographical charts, 522.
Caoutchouc, or India rubber, description of a property of, 361.
Cataract, of the eye, comparison of the mode of depressing and extracting it, 399—401.
Cause and effect, discussion of, 36.
Charts, &c. memorial on printing them with moveable characters, 522.
Chess, anecdotes of games at, 85—87.
Christianity, view of its tendency and influence, 256.
City, antient, ruins of, 516.
Cleopatra, sketch of, 279.
Cocchi, Dr. his discourse on matrimony, 82.
Collin Harleville, M. his verses on rural scenery, 514.
Cold, successfully applied in the cure of scarlatina and of fever, 267, 268.
—— intense, its sedative effects on the living system, 355.
Colonies, discussion of their importance to a parent state, 1—18.
Commerce, that of Great-Britain beneficial to all other states, 337. Interesting view of, 338—350. 439.
Compounds, chemical, remarks on, 47.
Conjunctions. See Sicard.
Consumption, pulmonary. See Lichen.
Couching, that operation facilitated by the application of a solution solution of the extract of deadly nightshade, 494, 5.

Crescent, at Bath, account of, 314.
Crops, rotation of, remarks on, 290.
Curates, remarks on the late bill respecting, 110.

D

Dalton, Mr. on the different gases in the atmosphere, 357. On the tendency of elastic fluids to diffusion, 358. On the absorption of gases by water, ib. Remarks on Mr. Gough's essays, 360.
Daniel, attempt to explain the prophecies of, 75.
Dantzic, account of, 346.
Death, French verses on, 515.
Defence, national, general principles of, adapted to Great Britain, 204.
De Foe, Daniel, account of his paper called the Review, 178.
De Wailly, M. sketch of his life and writings, 511.
Drama, rules respecting dramatic composition, 328.
Drill Husbandry, its advantages discussed, 25.
Drowsiness, remarkably affecting persons troubled with polypi, 442.
Duchillon, or Dutens, M. his memoirs, 481.
Ducis, M. his poem on solitude and love, 517.
Dupuis, M. on the inhabitants of the isles of the Persian gulph, 513.
Du Theil. See Camus.
Dysentery, theory of, and mode of treating it, 158.

E

Earth, figure and magnitude of, remarks on the knowlege of the antients on this subject, 464. Measurement of its superficies, 479.
Economy, political, comparative observations on the works of Sir James Steuart and Dr. Smith on that subject, 113—121.
Egypt, its government while a Roman province, 280. Under the Ottoman rule, 281. Its beys, 282.
Emigration, from the Highlands of Scotland, philosophically discussed, 411—418.
Etymology, curious specimen of, 65.
Euler, M. observations on his solution of the Isoperimetrical problem, 507.
Exhibition, public, of articles of manufacture, notes relative to, 519.
Eye, cataract of. See Cataract. See Couching.

F

Farming, in France, various particulars relative to, 540.
Fenelon, his ingenious remark on the oratory of Demosthenes and that of Cicero, 63.
Fevers, successfully treated by the cold affusion, 268.
Fishing, among the antients, researches concerning, 522.
Fluids, elastic, on their tendency to diffusion, 358.
Fort William in Bengal, college of, account of, and of its operations, 246.
Fortifications, in Great Britain, censured, 205.
France, geographical particulars relative to, 480. Its population, ib.
Francis, Mr. his view of affairs in India, 241. His statement of his own services, 244.
François, M. of Neufchateau, his verses on death, 515. His translation of part of Valerius Flaccus, 516.

Free-masonry, origin of, 185. Vindicated from the charge of disloyalty, 186. From any connection with Illuminism, 188.

G

Gallus, the Roman Governor of Egypt, some account of, 280.
Galvinism, supposed to be the cause of the excitability of the animal fibre, 476
Gardens, highly recommended as appendages to the cots of labourers, 288.
Garrick, David, tribute to the virtues of his heart, 232. Accused of stealing his Lying Valet from the French, and denying it. 484.
Gases. See Dalton. See Gough.
Gibson. Mr on the effects of madder on bones, 3,6. On the sutures in the animal skull, 361.
Good humour and good nature nicely discriminated, 156.
Gough, Mr. on the theory of mixed gases, 359. His reply to Mr. Dalton's objections, 360. On a property of Caoutchouc, 361.
Grahame, Dr. on an aurora borealis, 135.
Grant, Mr. on reverie, 365.
Grasses, natural and artificial, catalogue of the best, 292.
Gulf, of Persia, inhabitants of the isles of, their supposed influence over Europe, &c. 513.
Guyton, M. on the restoration of a painting by Raphael, 518.

H

Hannibal, his passage of the Alps said to have been over one of the St. Bernards, 511.
Hanse towns, history of the league of, 449—460.
Harleville. See Collin.
Hemp, memoir on its use in antiquity, 518.
Herculaneum and Pompeii, not overwhelmed in the year 79, but in 471 of our era, 511.
Hernia, singular variety of, 136.
Highlands of Scotland. See Emigration.
History, its moral influence considered, 366. Unpleasing nature of the scenes which it displays, 367. Relief in contemplating the character of Alfred, 368. Undeserved titles bestowed on conspicuous characters, ib. Its veracity questioned, yet its utility asserted. 369.
Holland, Mr. his reflection on history, 369.
Homer, distinguished for his judgment, 151.
——, strictures on the machinery of his poems, 362. Comparison between Homer and Milton, 363.
Hope, Dr. on the contraction of water by heat, 133.
Horn-music, in Russia, origin of, 83.
Horses, preferable to oxen, for agricultural purposes, 25.
Hunter, Mr. John, censure on his advice not to dilate gunshot wounds, 396.
Hutton, Dr. James, biographical account of, 137.

I and J

Jews, restoration of, positively predicted, 80.
Illuminati, origin of that sect, 188.
Imagination, and Association, metaphysically discussed, 149.
India, statement of late transactions in, by Marquis Wellesley, 239. By Mr. Francis, 241.
Insanity, theory, cause, and treatment of, 270—273.
Johnson, Samuel, anecdote of his poverty, 233.
Irrigation, remarks on its utility, 24.

Judgment, remarks on, as exercised by poets, and especially by Homer, 151.
Ivory, Mr. on reducing the square root to a continued fraction, 136.

K

Kate, of Cymmau, her cottage poetically depicted, 432.
Kaura, a musical instrument among the Hindoos, described, 312.
Kirkwall, the capital of the Orkneys, account of, 298.

L

Lammer-muir Hills, in Scotland, metereological obs. on, 138.
Landscapes, importance of water in the composition of, 26.
Landscape-Gardeners, remarks on their occupation, and the tricks of their trade, 30.
Language, French, highly eulogized, and De Wailly's Principles of it much praised, 512. Remarks on, and on the continuation of the Dictionary of, 518.
Lead, supposed to be communicated to spring water by pipes, &c. 161.
Lichen Islandicus, that plant recommended for the cure of Phthisis and other diseases, 331, 332.
Loom, used in India, very simple, 311.
Love epigrams, specimens of, 335.

M

Machinery of the Antient Epic Poets, remarks on, 362.
Mackenzie, Mr. envoy to Turin, unwelcome civilities to, on his landing at Calais, 485.
Madder, its effects on Bones, 356.
Maintenon, Madame de, her early escapes from death, 501.
Maresch, J. A. invents the Horn-music, 83.
Marlborough, great Duke of, anecdote of his economy, 486.
Matrimony, not recommended to a literary man, of moderate income, 82.
Maxims, selection of, 85.
Mérino, that breed of sheep strongly recommended, 542.
Milton, his poems compared with those of Homer, 363.
Mongez, M. on the harangues of antient orators, 515. On an antient statue, ib. On the use of hemp among the antients, 518. On the bronze of the antients, and on some old swords, 520, 521.
Mosaic, remarks on that mode of painting, 535.
Motion, in mechanics, philosophically considered, 164.
Music. See Horn music. See Kaura.
Mystery, curious instance of the love of, 488.
Mythology, Gentile, attempt to explain the details of, 65.

N

Naigeon, M. on the continuation of the French Dictionary, 518.
Naples, curious picture of customs at the Post-office there, 405. A woman starved to death in one of the public streets, 408. Situation of, during late political contentions, 409.
Nature, System of, remarks on that work, 118.
Nelson, Lord, anecdotes of, 93. Spanish representations of his achievements and death, 523—526.
Neutral-powers, in time of war, discussion of their rights, 199. 218.
Northumberland, Duchess of, remarkable circumstances of her death, 488.
Notation, algebraic, remarks on the changes of, 509.

Novelty,

Novelty, the desire of, remarks on, 157.

O

Odessa, account of that port, 343. The choice of it stated to be unfortunate, 439.
Ophthalmia, remarks on, 91.
Opium, experiments on its effects on the living system, 353.
Orators, antient, on their mode of haranguing, 515.
Orkney Islands, historical particulars of, 296—302.
Ormond, Duke of, his politeness in his dying moments, 488.

P

Paintings, decayed, successfully restored, 518.
Panorama, report concerning, 514.
Peace of 1762, anecdotes relating to, 487.
People, discussion of the right of popular election to offices, 61.
Periodical Essays, object and requisites of, 177. Good effects of the Tatler, Spectator, &c. 183.
Perspective, remarks on, 514.
Peruvians, manners and customs of, depicted, 424—428.
Petrifactions, of the crustaceous order of Vermes, described, 430.
Philosophy, poetical apostrophe to, 98. Natural and moral, mode of pursuing the studies of, 370.
Picturesque, in painting, remarks on, 150.
Plague, discussion relative to its contagious nature, 89. Symptoms of, ib. Benefit derived from oily frictions, 90.
Plantations, hints respecting the formation of, 31.
Playfair, Professor, on a coincidence of barometrical observations, 135. On rainbows, ib. His biography of the late Dr. James Hutton, 137.
Pleiades, discussion relating to their rising and setting, as connected with Virgil's Seasons of Honey, 390.
Poetry, of Spain, specimens of, 523. Its peculiar metres, 525.
Politeness of a courtier at the point of death, instance of, 488.
Pompeii. See Herculaneum.
Population, observations on, politically considered, 114. Of the whole earth, 480. Of France, ib. Of Great Britain, 481.
Post-Office at Naples, curious scenes exhibited there, 405.
Power, the metaphysical use of that term discussed, 42.
Prepositions, Greek, on the origin of, 130.
Prévôt, Abbé, singular story of, 489.
Prince Edward's Island, new colony formed there, its success, 418.
Problems, of the Criteria Integrabilitatis, and the Isoperimetrical, obs. on the solution of, 505.
Protestantism said to increase in France, 197.
Ptolemy I. brief memoir of, 279.

Q

Quakers, remarks on some of the tenets and practices of, 320.

R

Rainbows, intersecting, account of, 135.
Raleigh, Sir Walter, his name to be spelt without an i, 379. Historical particulars relating to, 380—383.
Raphael, painting of, restored, 518.
Religion, view of, by a Spaniard, 428.
Residence, of Clergy, remarks on, 110.
Reverie, its prejudicial influence on the student, 365.

Review

Review, a paper published by De Foe, account of, 178.
Richardson, Dr. on siliceous basalt, 135.
Ridiculous, in poetry, nearly allied to the sublime, 155.
Roads, public, hints rel. to, 289.
Rodigunda, Saint, story of explained, 28.
Russel, Mr. on a singular variety of Hernia, 136.
Russia, extent of that vast empire, 340. Commercial particulars rel. to, 341—344. 439.

S

St. John, island of, now called Prince Edward's, account of the new colony at, 418.
Saturn, Ring of, cause of its equilibrium discussed, 171.
Scarlatina, successfully treated by cold affusions, 267. That disease stated to occur only once to the same person, ib. Its appearances, ib.
Scaron, M. the society at his house described, 501.
Schmidt, M. on the expansion of air by heat, remarks on, 360.
Sea, observations on its encroachments on and retreat from the land, 28.
Secretion, in the animal frame, hypothesis respecting its operation, 477.
Selim, Sultan, his arrangement of the government of Egypt, 281.
Senses, of smell, touch, &c, remarks on, 143.
Sheep of the Mérino breed, much recommended, 542.
Sicard, M. on conjunctions, 511. On the life, &c. of De Wailly, ib.
Skull, or skoll, in the Scotch language, on the etymology of, 137.
Skulls, sutures in, use of, 361.
Smell, Touch, Hearing, and Sight, observations on, 143.
Smith, Dr. Adam, compared with Sir James Steuart as a Political Economist, 113—121. Remarks on his Wealth of Nations, 122.
Solitude and Love, a poem, 517.
Sound, duties paid by ships passing the Sound, 349.
Spain, specimens of Spanish Poetry, on the battle of Trafalgar, 523. Its peculiar metres, 525.
Sports and Exercises, popular, on the use and abuse of, 364. See also Boxing and Bull-Baiting.
Square root. See Ivory.
Stars, fixed, Bp. Horsley's mode of investigating their risings and settings, 393.
Starvation, anecdote of a woman dying of hunger in the streets of Naples, 408.
Steel, manner of converting iron into steel among the Greeks, 522.
Steele, Sir R. criticisms on his periodical papers, 179.
Stereotype, 2d mem. on the history of, 517.
Stock, farming, obs. on the breeds of live stock, 293.
Style, English, of the last century, among the best writers, remarks on, 181.
Sublime, feelings of, discussed, 154.
Suicide, lamentably prevalent in America, 109.
Sun, the theory of, remarks relative to, 470.
Sutures in the Skulls of animals, on their use, 361.
Swinging, recommended for the cure of mania, 273.
Swords, antient, memoirs on, 520, 521.
Symplægades, comment on the passage of Jason between those rocks, 68.

T

Taste, observations on, 141.

Teurdank,

Tourdunk, additions to the memoir on, 517.
Thomas, George, an extraordinary adventurer in India, account of, 304.
Threshing, of corn, better performed by the machine than by the flail, 291.
Thunder storm, at Buenos Ayres, described, 386.
Tides, M. La Place's theory of, controverted, 174.
Tonningen, account of, 348.
Topaz, species, characters, and varieties of, 497.
Toull, ruins of an antient city, 516.
Trafalgar, battle of, Spanish Poems on, 523—525.
Travellers, ought not to be ignorant of the works of their predecessors, 402.
Troy, statements respecting the vestiges of, 375.
Turks, surprized at the ablutions of a Christian, 373. Good conduct of an Aga, or Kiayàh, ib.

V and U

Valenciennes, M. his Elements of Practical Perspective, 514.
Verdun, mode of living among the English prisoners in that city, 196.
Villars, M. on the passage of Hannibal over the Alps, 511.
Vineyards, in France, account of, 193.
Viry, Comte de, his love of mystery, 488.
Universities, English, vindicated from former censures, 229.

W

Walker, Mr. on the antient Epic machinery, 362. On the moral influence of History, 366. On natural and moral Philosophy, 370.
Water, its importance in landscapes, 26. Experiments on the contraction of by heat, 133.
Weishaupt, Dr. founded the sect of Illuminati, before he became a Free mason, 188.
West Indies, British Colonies in, their returns to the mother-country, 11.
Wheat, ought not to be cut before it is ripe, 24.
Winkelman, Abbé, his picture of his struggles against conversion to Popery, 528. His hatred of the French, 531. His sanguine expectations from his History of the Arts, ib.
Women, among the Hindoos, customs of, 311.
Woodcocks, their flight in large numbers asserted, 494.
Worms recommended as food for chickens, 542.
Wounds, gun-shot, remarks on, 396.

END OF VOL. L. OF THE NEW SERIES.

Strahan and Preston,
Printers-street, London.